

SECURITY INSTITUTE SEMINAR

17 June 2010

The Security Institute in association with ISD-Tech invites you to

Venue: Dunsfold Park, Cranleigh, Surrey, GU6 8TB
Tel: 01483 200 900
Website: www.dunsfoldpark.com

Speakers:

Nicky Stokes, Managing Director of ISD-Tech

Nicky will present an overview of the benefits of integrated security solutions, how to reduce costs and streamline security services.

Glenn Duggan, Borough Crime Prevention Design Advisor

Glenn will give an overview of the priorities for public sector funding of security in an uncertain future, how you can make use of freely available information, and how to watch for pitfalls and considerations when tendering for projects.

Simon Lambert, Design Specialist

Simon will share the benefit of his experience in the 3D design of CCTV and security systems and will illustrate in layman's terms some fascinating ideas for security applications that are possible using a simple desktop computer.

Andrew Rosenthal, Business Development Manager, CBC

Andrew will present the latest in perimeter surveillance technology including radar, thermal and night vision cameras; why, how and where to use it.

Ed Selby, Business Development Manager, Sensor Access Technology

Ed's talk will discuss technology trends; the concept, purpose and benefits of managed services, hosting and software-as-a-service (SaaS) and its emergence in the security market sector.
